DME Alternative Fuel Executive Briefing

An Introduction to the Newest Alternative Transportation Fuel in North America

Please join members of the International DME Association on Capitol Hill on Friday, September 27th for a briefing aimed at providing a fundamental understanding of DME and its relevance in the dynamic alternative fuel landscape in North America.

The one hour briefing will provide attendees with comprehensive information about DME's utility as an ultra-low emission alternative transportation fuel, the options available for large or small-scale production (from fossil and renewable feedstock), its potential to address a number of important objectives related to energy security, emissions reduction, and natural gas utilization, and time for questions from industry experts.
